Fiery Fidel Storms Into U.N., Sees Dag

Owner Of Hotel Brands Outburst As "Propaganda"

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fiery Cuban Premier Fidel Castro stormed out of his hotel in a huff Monday night and after an emergency conference with United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld it was announced the entire Cuban U.N. delegation would move to a hotel in Harlem.

The bearded Cuban leader's decision to go to the Hotel Theresa ended a frantic evening which stole the attention of most New Yorkers from the arrival Monday of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Announcing he was ready to sleep in Central Park if necessary, Castro led the vanguard of his party of some 80 Cubans out of the Hotel Shelburne, and drove eight blocks across Manhattan to the U.N.'s skyscraper headquarters.

The bearded Cuban charged the hotel had made "unacceptable cash demands" on him.

Hotel owner Edward Spatz immediately branded the entire move a propaganda stunt calculated to embarrass the United States and the United Nations.

Owner Challenges Fidel

Spatz had agreed to take in the Cubans in the first place only at the request of the State Department and the United Nations after other hotels refused Castro housing.

Castro told an impromptu news conference in the lobby of the hotel as he left that the final blow in a series of financial squabbles with the hotel had been Spatz' demand for $10,000 Monday.

Spatz challenged Castro. He admitted he had asked the Cubans to produce Monday the second half of a $10,000 bond, the first half of which already had been put up. He said the Cubans attempted to give him a Cuban bond which he said "looked like a phony."

"I asked for a real bond or money," Spatz said, adding that he later returned, went to Castro's room, offered to return the $5,000 bond already posted and let the Cubans stay on free of charge.

"But," he added, "the Cubans left because this was all a propaganda thing."

"I'm just a little hotel man caught in the middle of an international scheme to embarrass the U.S. and the U.N.," Spatz said.

Had Suitcases Packed

Spatz said the Cubans already had packed 500 suitcases when he went up to their suites, proving they had planned all along to walk out for "propaganda."

Castro and his top aides entered the U.N. building without incident after leaving the Shelburne despite the small crowd of pickets outside which included anti-Castro members of New York's Cuban colony. He conferred with Hammarskjöld for 45 minutes and then stopped for a bite to eat in the U.N.'s swank South Lounge.

A second conference followed as the U.N. corridors buzzed with speculation and Castro's followers milled about in the U.N. building. Then it was announced Castro and his group would stay at a hotel of Castro's choice.

Castro chose the Theresa, the largest Negro hotel in the United States, with 300 rooms.

Space Capsule Fired 1,200 Miles By Navy

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP) — The Navy Monday fired 1,200 miles into space and back a capsule designed to measure dangerous radiation future astronauts will encounter.

The capsule, launched from the naval missile facility here, was fished from the Pacific Ocean 1,200 miles down range by a destroyer.

India, Pakistan Sign Pact, End River Dispute

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — India and Pakistan, won over by a U.S.-supported billion-dollar investment plan, ended Monday a dispute as old as their countries' division of the Indus River waters.

A treaty formally settling the 13-year-old issue was signed by Prime Minister Nehru of India, who arrived here earlier in the day, and President Mohammad Ayub Khan of Pakistan.

The two leaders expressed confidence the pact will enable them to clear up other issues between their nations, including the stubborn argument over ownership of the border state of Kashmir.

The billion-dollar investment fund will be established under the treaty by the World Bank and six member nations — the United States, Australia, Canada, West Germany, New Zealand and Britain.

The program is the product of eight years of difficult negotiations by World Bank officials with Pakistan and India.

The dispute dates back to 1947, when the two nations won independence from Britain and the boundaries fixed between them cut through 20 million acres in the arid Punjab district. Pakistan received 80 per cent of the irrigated area but India got the headwaters of the six rivers of the Indus system which provide the water for irrigation.

On three occasions since independence—in 1948, 1952 and 1956—Pakistan accused India of interfering with the water supply of 25 million Pakistanis in the area. Pakistan threatened war each time and India came back with warnings to Pakistan to stop depending on the water from India.

Atlas Roars 9,000 Miles, Hits 2 Miles From Target

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A powerful Atlas missile streaked 9,000 miles past the tip of South Africa into the Indian Ocean Monday — and an official reported it was capable of traveling at least 3,000 miles farther.

The missile reportedly hit within two miles of its intended target, matching the Atlas accuracy record over its normal operational range of 6,325 miles.

The firing occurred the day Nikita Khrushchev arrived in this country, but the shot wasn't planned this way. Technical problems twice forced postponement of the launching last week.

On another Atlas pad here, a towering Atlas-Able rocket is being groomed to attempt to hurl a 388-pound satellite around the moon later this week.

Vote Is 70-0; 9-Nation Soviet Bloc Abstains

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The General Assembly early Tuesday overwhelmingly backed Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld on his Congo policies and opposed any military aid to the Congo except through U.N. channels.

The vote — a blow to Soviet criticism of Hammarskjöld and Soviet aid to some time Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba — came as a climax to an emergency session on the Congo called on U.S. initiative.

It occurred on the scheduled opening day of the 1960 regular session, for which Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has already arrived in New York.

A short time before the vote, the Soviet Union — faced with solid Asian-African opposition — gave up efforts to challenge the secretary-general.

Vote Is 70 To 0

The Assembly's endorsement of Hammarskjöld — and its warning against outside aid — came with adoption of a 17-nation Asian-African resolution containing those points.

The resolution passed by a vote of 70-0 with 11 abstentions. The abstainers were the nine-nation Soviet bloc, France and South Africa.

On separate preliminary votes, parts of the resolution were adopted 71-0 with 9 abstentions and 80-0 with 1 abstention.

Earlier, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Z. Zorin announced to the Assembly that he would not press for a vote on a Soviet resolution and Soviet amendments on the subject.

The amendments sought to reverse an Asian-African resolution favorable to Hammarskjöld's conduct of the U.N.'s operation to keep law and order in the Congo.

Zorin Backs Down

Zorin made his gesture at the request of Ambassador Alex Quisenberry of Ghana, after U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth had announced that the United States would vote for the 17-nation Asian-African resolution unless it was changed.

Zorin also sought to put in the Asian-African proposal a provision condemning alleged Belgian aggression against the Congo and urging immediate withdrawal of Belgian troops from that country.

His amendments, like his original resolution, sought to hold Hammarskjöld responsible for the overthrow of Patrice Lumumba, the sometime Congo premier.

Market Plunges To New 1960 Low

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, apprehensive over the business outlook and what might develop at the United Nations, plunged to a new 1960 low, as measured by the Dow Jones industrial average, Monday.

An estimated $5.7 billion was slashed from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the decline in the Associated Press average of 60 stocks.

Heavy trading accompanied the slide. Key stocks fell from a few cents to more than $3.

Cabinet Post Is Offered To Lumumba

Kasavubu Regime Seeks Peace With Deposed Premier

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo. (AP) — President Joseph Kasavubu's pro-Western government sought Monday to make peace with its bitterest enemy, Patrice Lumumba, by offering the deposed, Communist-backed premier a Cabinet post.

There was no immediate reply from Lumumba whose office earlier had said a conciliation had been reached between Lumumba and Kasavubu under which Lumumba would remain premier.

Kasavubu acknowledged he had discussed a possible reconciliation with sources close to Lumumba but said he refused to sign any accord and subsequently repudiated the Lumumba announcement. Kasavubu's premier is Joseph Ileo.

Mobutu Not In Full Control

Jean Bolikango, Ileo's information minister, told a news conference the new government named by Kasavubu has not taken over effective power in the Congo because it hopes to reach an agreement with Lumumba.

Bolikango conceded that army Col. Joseph Mobutu, the Congo's reigning strongman, was not fully in control of the 3,000 or so soldiers stationed in Camp Leopold on the outskirts of the capital.

"Unfortunately there are still several hundred soldiers who follow the orders of a government which has no authority," Bolikango said in reference to Lumumba.

Kasavubu fired Lumumba as premier Sept. 5 and appointed Ileo to replace him. Lumumba countered by firing Kasavubu and the Congolese Parliament subsequently nullified both firings. Since then, the Congo has had two rival factions claiming to head the government. Neither has been able to get the government machinery back into motion.

Lumumba Acceptance Doubtful

Bolikango made it clear that he was mainly Ileo's hope of persuading Lumumba to enter his government as a minister that held up Ileo's assuming full control of the government machinery.

Political observers doubted whether Lumumba would accept the loss of face which he would inevitably incur through agreeing to serve under Ileo.

But Bolikango said, "Lumumba is intelligent enough to know that the Congo cannot continue in the present chaos, and some compromise must be found."

Air Crash Fatal To 77 Probed

AGANA, Guam (AP) — Expert investigators converged Monday on a jungle hilltop where Guam's worst plane crash killed 77 persons Monday.

Sixteen survived the four-engine transport crash.

Investigators hoped the survivors could provide some clues to what caused the disaster. The DC-8, operated by World Airways under Military Air Transport Service contract, was loaded with military personnel and civilian dependents enroute to the United States.

An Army casualty list identified four of the dead and reported 12 others missing. It disclosed six members of one family and five members of another apparently lost their lives.

There were reports that the survivors, including Navigator Edgar W. Schwoyer of San Leandro, Calif., were in the tail section.

A veteran navigator of many flights over the Pacific told the Associated Press if the navigator was there for emergency reasons. The navigator normally works in the cockpit area but has emergency station in the rear of the plane.

Some military sources said one of the four engines blew apart just before the crash. Others said the explosion came on impact. The wings were ripped off as the giant plane plowed a path through dense growth on the side of a 640-foot hill named Mt. Barrigada.

The heavy rain began in the Alps four days ago and spread to south of Rome.

Rivers spilled over their banks, flooding tens of thousands of acres of farmland and tearing away bridges and highways. Telephone and telegraph lines were downed.

Nixon Accuses Demos Of Pork Barrel Politics

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon swooped into the heart of the economically-pinched hard coal country Monday and accused the Democrats of playing pork barrel politics with legislation that could have helped the area.

Nixon called for the next Congress to put aside political considerations and to give the highest urgency to the outset to a bill to help depressed areas.

Whichever Democratic-controlled Congress did pass a bill, President Eisenhower vetoed it as unsatisfactory. Nixon hit that bill as "straight pork barrel" in remarks prepared for delivery here Monday night at a rally in the National Guard armory.

"It spread more dollars so widely," the Republican presidential nominee said, "into place after place that did not need this sort of help that the places like Scranton, where help is critically needed, were left begging."

"They used the shotgun of politics instead of the rifle of national interest. No responsible president could have approved it."

This was the first major speech of the second week of his intensified drive for the White House.

The vice president flew from Washington to the Wilkes-Barre Scranton airport, drove into Wilkes-Barre first for a talk in the rail, at the square in the center of the city, then backtracked to Scranton.

Thousands of people got wet with the vice president and cheered him thoroughly for his often-repeated stand in the Wilkes-Barre square that the great issue of 1960 is who is best equipped to lead America toward peace without surrender.

Nixon told an audience that jammed the streets and park that whatever Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev does at the United Nations "remember that America is strong."

"He's going to say a lot of things," Nixon said, "and he's going to do a lot of things."

The vice president said the times call for maturity and not rashness or immaturity.

Then he said that Khrushchev "won't throw the country off balance."

At Least 36 Dead In Italian Floods

ROME (AP) — Floods and landslides caused by torrential rains took a mounting toll of lives and cut almost every major north-south line of travel on the Italian peninsula Monday night.

The number of known dead reached 36.

The heavy rain began in the Alps four days ago and spread to south of Rome.

Rivers spilled over their banks, flooding tens of thousands of acres of farmland and tearing away bridges and highways. Telephone and telegraph lines were downed.

Storm Florence Loses Punch

MIAMI (UPI) — Tropical storm Florence, which for a time looked dangerously like sister storm Donna, lost its punch Monday in the vicinity of the southern Bahamas.

The Miami Weather Bureau downgraded the disturbance to a "tropical depression" but said it would continue to watch Florence closely. Another disturbance "while began developing in the Gulf of Mexico."

Florence's top winds, which blew at 50 miles per hour Sunday, simmered down to barely 30 MPH over Great Inagua Island Monday as a result of a "happy combination of weather forces."

Laos Capital Defense Set Up

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Soldiers loyal to neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma manned mortars and set up roadblocks on the outskirts of Vientiane Monday night following a rebel threat to attack this administrative capital.

Military officials dismissed as propaganda a declaration by the opposition regime of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan that its forces planned to seize the city, but said they looked for another selling.

A 30-minute machine gun and mortar barrage early Saturday damaged a waterworks station and three homes. The fire came from across the Mekong River in Thailand.

"They—the rebels—are trying to harass us and scare us out but they won't succeed," said Gen. Ouane Rattikone, Phouma's army commander.

The attack threat came from Radio Savannakhet, the voice of the rebel regime set up more than a week ago with headquarters at Savannakhet, 180 miles southeast of Vientiane. Phoumi became leader of the group after accusing Prince Phoua's government of being pro-Communist.

'Troublemakers' Trying To Come To U.S., Ike Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said Monday, "There seem to be some troublemakers trying to come to our country."

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter saw no brightening of the slim prospects that Eisenhower will get together with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. And he discounted the possibility of serious negotiations at a big United Nations General Assembly meeting.

These comments just about summed up first Washington reaction to the second U.S. visit of Khrushchev, Washington's No. 1 cold war foe.

U.S. strategists professed little surprise in Khrushchev's opening declaration that the Soviet Union wants peace and desires serious disarmament negotiations among

Kennedy Aims His Distressed Area Aid Plan

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy Monday night proposed a richer diet for Americans forced to live on surplus foods and the establishment of a youth conservation corps to help the younger unemployed by providing jobs in national resource development.

Kennedy carried his campaign into West Virginia, a state suffering sorely from unemployment and the declining fortunes of the coal and steel industries. His specific purpose here was to address a Democratic conference on distressed areas.

Kennedy pictured West Virginia as a state being denied its rightful share in American abundance by the indifference and neglect of the Republican Party.

He said his opponent, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, had either forgotten or did not understand many of the problems of those suffering from unemployment and technological displacement.

He also expressed his concern over the fact that the American economy was growing more slowly than that of nearly every other industrial nation in the world.

He promised, if elected, to send Congress as soon as possible specific programs to produce fuller employment and greater production.

Kremlin Boss Given Frosty N.Y. Welcome

Suggests Ike Join U.N. Session For Talks On Disarming

NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev indicated Monday he wants to talk about disarmament with President Eisenhower at the United Nations and thus, in effect, turn the coming U.N. General Assembly session into a world summit meeting.

The Soviet Premier and his red bloc retinue arrived Monday, to a soggy and coldly hostile New York welcome. Khrushchev at once suggested President Eisenhower should attend the Assembly session for "serious negotiations" on disarmament.

Khrushchev, beginning his second stay in the United States with a lecture to President Eisenhower, urged the President to take "really constructive" part in the Assembly session and avoid making just a "fancy speech."

The boos and catcalls marking Khrushchev's arrival at a decrepit East River pier had hardly died away before the Soviet leader launched an attack on Secretary of State Christian A. Herter. He said he found "very strange" Herter's recent statement that Khrushchev's mission in the United States would be one of making propaganda.

Ike To State U.S. Position

There was no other American comment on Khrushchev's arrival remarks except that the spokesman noted there was nothing unexpected or new in the Soviet leader's talk. He said President Eisenhower would make the U.S. position perfectly clear in his Thursday address to the Assembly.

Khrushchev and his advisers huddled at Soviet U.N. delegation headquarters on Park Avenue on their strategy for the history-making session.

The arrival of Khrushchev and his Communist bloc leaders coincided with a clash in the 82-nation Assembly between the Soviet Union and members of the Asian-African bloc — nations the Soviets are anxious to impress — on the issue of Africa's turbulent Congo.

In prospect after the formal opening of the 15th General assembly session Tuesday afternoon was a Soviet defeat in the voting for the Assembly presidency. Herter arrived Monday afternoon to represent the United States.

Boos and shouts of "Murderer!" greeted the Soviet Communist chief as he stepped from the white-hulled Soviet ship Baltika to a rain-soaked, decrepit East River pier, to the echo of jeers from hostile longshoremen.

1,500-Word Statement

Apparently unperturbed, Khrushchev at once produced a 1,500-word prepared statement. In it he purported to interpret President Eisenhower's decision to address the assembly Thursday as raising the possibility of top-level negotiations.

"I am not sure whether I understand correctly the latest decision of the United States government with regard to Mr. Eisenhower, the United States President, taking part in the work of the General Assembly," Khrushchev said.

"The United States have, perhaps, reappraised their attitude toward the assembly meetings and have also come to the conclusion that serious negotiations can be undertaken in the United Nations to reach a disarmament agreement."

"We," if this does not mean a fancy speech but really constructive participation in the work of the assembly, we would welcome such a decision."

But Khrushchev insisted his mission would be to "do the utmost in order to channel the development of our relations toward a peaceful settlement of our outstanding problems, towards insuring universal peace." He said he retained, from his visit last year, "the very best feelings" from his meetings with Americans.

The Soviet leader repeated his contention that better relations between the two superpowers were essential for peace.

67 Japanese Miners Believed Drowned

TOKYO, Tuesday (AP)—Sixty-seven coal miners were believed to have drowned Tuesday in a flooded mine in Kyushu.

"There's little hope for them being alive," a police officer in Kawasaki Machi, a town located near the scene of the accident 480 miles southwest of Tokyo, said in a telephone interview.

"The mine has been flooded to the top with water still pouring in," the policeman added.

Police said a gas explosion in a nearby coal pit caused the ground to sink in the active mine, and it was flooded by the Chuganji River to a depth of 35 feet.

Curran Charges Critics Engage In 'Witch-Hunt'

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland Prison Superintendent James W. Curran said Monday his critics were indulging in "witch-hunting" and "irresponsible charges" in attacking the record of his administration.

Testifying at the second session of a legislative investigation of state prisons, Curran took specific aim at Alvin J. T. Zumbun, executive director of the Maryland Crime Investigating Committee, and State Sen. George E. Snyder, D-Washington.

Zumbun and Snyder sharply criticized Curran during the opening hearing last Wednesday.

Curran told the Legislative Council committee that he "felt sorry for Mr. Zumbun and I pity him." And he said Snyder had engaged in a campaign of "diatribe . . . and personal vilification."

Earlier, G. C. A. Anderson, chairman of the State Board of Correction, described Curran as a "devoted public servant" who had his complete confidence.

Anderson told the committee,

Land Transfer To Catholic Group Upheld

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — A suit challenging transfer of county-donated land to a Catholic group which plans to build a $6 million-dollar hospital in Silver Spring has been dismissed in Montgomery County Circuit Court.

Judges Thomas M. Anderson and Patrick M. Schnauffer upheld transfer of the 10-acre tract in an opinion made public Monday.

They found the Catholic-owned hospital would be open to all, regardless of creed, and thus would fulfill the original intention of the County Council to provide a hospital in the Silver Spring area.

Five taxpayers had asked the court to prohibit transfer of the land to Holy Cross Hospital. They contended the land, originally donated by the county to a non-sectarian group, could not be transferred subsequently to a Catholic group.

The judges noted the land had been transferred by the Silver Spring Hospital Association, Inc., to the Holy Cross Hospital of Silver Spring, Inc., only after the association had failed over a 15-year period to raise the money to build the hospital.

A campaign is on to raise more money for the hospital. The Silver Spring Hospital Association gave the Catholic order $102,500 realized from sale of 17 acres of the original tract to the State Roads Commission in 1958.

Suitor Who Slew Rival Gets Life

BALTIMORE (AP) — Walter C. Palmer, 59-year-old crane operator, was sentenced to life imprisonment Monday for the slaying of a man on a lonely road near City Hospitals Jan. 13.

Judge James J. Cullen imposed sentence after Palmer was convicted in Criminal Court of first-degree murder in the fatal shooting of Bernard Lardner, 40.

Testimony during the trial, which ended Friday, showed that Palmer and Lardner were rivals for the affections of Mrs. Millie Tice McDonald, a 54-year-old mother of four.

The state contended that Lardner was lured into Palmer's car on the night of the slaying on the pretext of driving to a house to give an estimate on a painting job.

Mrs. McDonald testified that she and Lardner had planned to be married on Valentine's Day this year and that she never seriously considered Palmer's marriage proposals.

Nasser Hopes To Play World Statesman Role

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — A composite photograph published by a Cairo magazine this week shows the Egyptian conception of the coming U.N. General Assembly.

It shows President Gamal Abdel Nasser at the speaker's rostrum occupying the center stage beneath the U.N. insignia. Flanking him are fellow neutralists, President Tito of Yugoslavia and Prime Minister Nehru of India.

On the assembly floor below, President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev are embracing warmly.

This photo describes better than words Nasser's aim as he goes for the first time to a Western country and the first time to the U.N. General Assembly.

With his neutralist allies he hopes to dramatize the need for giving neutralist nations a greater voice in major world problems. And he expects to emerge as an international statesman instead of a purely regional leader.

Nasser also will try to make clear he is going, not at Khrushchev's suggestion, but as the result of an agreement among neutralist leaders.

Highly placed Egyptian officials are hammering on this point in private talks with Western diplomats in Cairo.

With other neutralists, Nasser will argue that the big powers have failed to progress on disarmament and ending the cold war. He will insist that uncommitted nations lying between the two big blocs can contribute to easing tensions and disarmament.

Runaway Truck Kills 4

CARBONDALE, Pa. (UPI) — Four persons were killed Monday when a runaway tractor-trailer careened down a steep hill, smashed an automobile, plowed into a house and burst into flames trapping two occupants in the blazing cab.

Police said the runaway truck collided with the car on the steep grade and dragged the auto about 100 yards before striking a utility pole.

The rig then jackknifed and the trailer ran over the auto while the tractor ploughed up the steps and through the front door of the Thomas Moffitt home. None of the occupants of the home were injured.

The bodies of two adults were pulled from the charred wreckage of the cab. The charred body of a child, who apparently was thrown from the flaming cab by one of the victims, was found nearby.

The dead were identified as Ollie Winders, 33, of Dallas, Tex., driver of the tractor-trailer, his BALTIMORE (AP) — A 30-year-old Baltimore man was electrocuted Monday when the crane on which he was working struck high tension wires.

Baltimore Tax Plan Hits Snag

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A proposed metropolitan sales tax for Baltimore City and Baltimore and Anne Arundel counties hit a sharp snag Monday when state officials said it would create "almost insoluble difficulties" in collection.

Gov. Tawes said in view of this, and unless a practical administration and collection system is worked out for the levy, he has no plans to call the Legislature into special session.

Meeting with Tawes and state tax officials at a two-hour session here were Mayor J. Harold Grady of Baltimore, County Executive Christian H. Kahl of Baltimore County and Frank W. Wilde, president of the Anne Arundel County Commissioners.

They want their governments to impose a metropolitan sales tax but have the state collect the tax for them.

Edward Engelbert, chief of the retail sales tax division, told the governor it would present "almost insoluble difficulties" because of the way the state sales tax is

"Despite all their efforts, the evil forces who want to poison the atmosphere in relations between our countries will invariably sustain defeat," Khrushchev said.

"Good times of warm, friendly relations between our peoples, between our governments, will come about."

Khrushchev's arrival was a bleak and sudden scene, and additional chill was added by the absence of any top U.S. or other Western dignitaries to greet the Soviet ship. A golden hammer and sickle on the white hull of the Baltika glistened in the pelting rain as Khrushchev stepped onto the 25th St. pier, where about 150 officials of various Communist nations were on hand to welcome him.

"Bootleg Dentistry" Warning Issued

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Bootleg dentistry" performed by unlicensed or unqualified persons took between 30 and 60 million dollars from the public last year, the Maryland State Dental Association was told Monday.

Dr. Albin W. Rausch, president of the New Jersey State Dental Society, told the semi-annual association meeting that "the public should be warned against submitting to 'bootleg dentistry' because of the possible danger to their health."

He also urged a campaign against schemes and dental care plans not sanctioned or approved by a dental society.

House Unit Suspends Defection Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee Monday suspended its investigation of the defection to the Soviet Union of two U.S. code specialists. The subcommittee chairman criticized hiring of the men and said the National Security Agency's security procedures need study.

Rep. Paul J. Kilday, D-Tex., said it is his view NSA should not have hired Bernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin. He said information the agency had at the time "showed them to be unstable, even though specific acts of culpability were lacking."

"In my view the procedures prescribed by NSA for clearance require further study," Kilday told newsmen after his subcommittee ended its third day of closed-door hearings.

DANCING IN THE SUN

Working for balance, a group of ballet students at Jacob's Pillow warm up for class with barre exercises on the outdoor platform adjoining Studio One.

High up in the Berkshire Mountains of Massachusetts, about nine miles east of Lee, lies one of the world's most famous dance centers, Jacob's Pillow, home of the summer dance festival and the University of the Dance.

Founded by its director, Ted Shawn, the "Father of American Dance," Jacob's Pillow is in its 28th year of the Festival and 19th year in the Ted Shawn Theater.

With ballet, modern and ethnic dance studied in the school, dance is represented in its entirety at Jacob's Pillow. Each summer day, under the bright sunshine, students and performers from the world over, can be seen studying and rehearsing their steps. This year, Nel Roos, former ballet mistress of the Netherlands Opera in Amsterdam, is choreographer in residence at Jacob's Pillow, and will choreograph a work using the students which will be seen during the Festival.

The University of the Dance is at capacity this summer with 61 students taking the six week course and 67 in the three week course. The ages vary; the youngest is 15, the oldest 46. The students are basically divided into two groups. The younger ones are preparing for professional careers and the older ones are mostly teachers polishing, extending and enriching their backgrounds.

Couple Sees Arrival Of Cuba's Premier

A local couple witnessed the dramatic and tense arrival of Fidel Castro, Cuba's premier, Sunday when he registered in the same New York hotel where they were staying.

Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Cifala of 1011 Lafayette Avenue, were at the Hotel Shelbourne on 33rd Street when the Cuba contingent arrived.

With the news that the Cuban leader and his party were staying at the hotel, many guests began checking out ahead of time. Cifala reported. Reservations were cancelled, he added.

The whole block was barricaded for autos, and hundreds of persons flocked to the area.

The local grocer said the crowd was keyed up and many New York City police were on hand to keep tempers from getting out of hand.

Castro arrived surrounded by about 75 of his body guard, Cifala said, all of whom were wearing big buttons and smoking long cigars.

The Cuban group took over the entire third floor, he added, upon checking in at the hotel at 2 p. m.

HOW TO BE READY FOR COLLEGE WHEN YOUR CHILDREN ARE

A suggestion that may help you meet the rising costs of education

Putting your children through college is more expensive than it used to be. In the last twenty years, the cost of a college education has generally doubled. Some say it's going to rise just as fast in the years ahead.

Perhaps the next few paragraphs will help you to meet such costs.

A second income that can grow

There's a kind of income that has a chance to grow over the years. It comes from dividends on good stock. When you own stock, you're part owner of a company. You can share in any profits. And share in any growth through possible increase in dividends. Lots of people find tuition bills easier to pay today because they began acquiring good stock when their children were young.

You don't have to be an expert to invest

Today there are more than 12,500,000 shareowners. Nearly half earn from $5,000 to $10,000 a year. Practically all began investing very modestly. And you could hardly call them experts. The important thing is to follow a few simple rules. Remember that prices go down as well as up. Use only money not needed for daily expenses or to provide for emergencies. Bear in mind that there are bad investments as well as good. So get facts—never depend on mere tips or rumors.

Where to get responsible advice and help

Not far from you there's almost sure to be a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Make it your headquarters for investing. The people who will help you there have met the Exchange's requirements for knowledge and integrity. Ask their opinion about the more stable income that bonds usually provide. You might want to consider both stocks and bonds when you're planning for college expenses.

What to do right now

You'll enjoy our wonderfully helpful free booklet, "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS." It lists stocks that have paid progressively higher dividends in recent years. It gives the records of more than 400 stocks that have paid a cash dividend each year from 25 to 112 years. And it describes the very convenient Monthly Investment Plan through which you can acquire stock in famous companies by investing with as little as $40 every three months, up to $1,000 a month.

The Red Snow Man And Atomic Power

When Soviet Premier Khrushchev decided to throw some more ice into the Cold War, it was only fitting that he should call up the talents of Vyacheslav M. Molotov, the original master of the quick freeze. The world will get a chance to see this 70-year-old snow man in action as Russia's permanent representative to the International Atomic Energy Agency, which convenes in Vienna today.

Molotov was disinterred for this special service from his mission in frigid Outer Mongolia, whence he had been sent as ambassador in 1957 after a run-in with Khrushchev. Reports have it that Molotov conspired against his boss a second time by encouraging Chinese aspirations in that remote but increasingly sensitive area.

This is the man about whom Winston Churchill once wrote: "I have never seen a human being who more perfectly represented the modern conception of the robot." Churchill called him "a man of outstanding ability and cold-blooded ruthlessness." James F. Byrnes characterized the Russian as "not cool — he is cold."

Negotiating with such a man will not be easy, and there is less reason to hope for a fruitful outcome of this year's conference than at any time since the 70-nation agency was established three years ago. Bitter controversy already has been forecast over choice of a chairman for the conference. The old Bolshevik's unique talents should come into full play when the conference takes up the key question: inspection procedures to see that fuel provided by the Agency is not used by underdeveloped nations to make atomic bombs.

These Days

Our Cuban Ambassadors

Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith testifying under oath before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee on the subject of his relations with the State Department concerning Castro:

"We refused to sell arms to a friendly government, and we persuaded other friendly governments not to sell arms to Cuba. Yet on the other hand revolutionary sympathizers were delivering arms, bodies and ammunition daily from the United States. We were lax in enforcing our neutrality laws.

"Senator Eastland. To Castro.

"Mr. Smith. Yes, sir, to revolutionaries under Castro.

"Senator Eastland. You had been warning the State Department that Castro was a Marxist?

"Mr. Smith. Yes, sir.

The story of the 15 planes recalls the State Department interference with arms shipments to Chiang Kai-shek while it was made easy for the Chinese Communists to arm themselves with the arms of the defeated Japanese.

Smith's testimony is:

"I received instructions to tell Batista that we could make delivery of those 15 planes. I recall this very clearly because I remember that it was received with great pleasure by the Government of Cuba.

"Shortly thereafter, before the planes could be delivered, the kidnapping of the Americans took place. I received instructions to notify the Batista government that the 15 training planes could not be delivered because the United States feared that bodily harm might come to the Americans who were kidnapped.

"I conveyed this information to the President of Cuba, informed him that this was only a temporary suspension for the reasons outlined above. When the kidnapped Americans were returned, I sent numerous telegrams urging delivery of the training planes.

"The subject was carried on for approximately two or three months, trying to obtain these training planes for the Batista government, but because of the psychological effect it would have upon those associated with the Government of Cuba.

"However, the State Department refused to grant permission to have these planes released from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where they were based."

Smith's testimony established the point beyond question that it was the United States through the State Department that brought Castro to power. Time after time, he was questioned with regard to that and always it was clear that Assistant Secretary of State Roy Rubottom and William A. Weiland, the deskman in charge of Cuba, preferred Castro.

Regarding Castro, Ambassador Smith testified:

"Castro was a revolutionary and a terrorist.

"From the time that he was a university student, he was a gun-toter. I was informed by a diplomat that he had killed one nun and two priests in Bogota during the uprising in 1948.

"I checked very carefully into Mr. Castro's background shortly after I was there and talked to people in Cuba who were anti-Batista but who knew Castro well.

"There is no question that Castro was a revolutionary and a terrorist but whether he started out as a Communist or not, I doubt. But his brother Raul was different; 'Che' Guevara was different. Guevara was and is a Marxist. I do not think there is any question or doubt about their Marxist theories.

"But Fidel Castro did make a number of statements at Costa Rica and out of Mexico which clearly showed his Marxist line of thinking. He was also an active member, as a student, of the FEU (a radical group).

"Mr. Sourvine. Is there any doubt in your mind that the Cuban Government, under Castro, is a Communist government?

"Mr. Smith. Now?

"Mr. Sourvine. Yes.

"Mr. Smith. I would go further. I believe it is becoming a satellite.

"Senator Dodd. You mean a Communist satellite?

"Mr. Smith. A Communist satellite.

Ambassadors Gardner and Smith did not mince words. Their accusations were direct. No appropriate or full defense has come from the State Department except Secretary of State Herter's expression of surprise. Ambassador Smith made the point that policy is made by the lower echelons of the State Department; that the top men on the "Fifth Floor" often do not know about the decisions until they have become accomplished facts. The "Fourth Floor" needs investigation.

Sino-Soviet Strain Is Cause For Concern

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Our eminent uninvited guest, Nikita S. Khrushchev, most probably has not just one, but three important meetings on his immediate schedule. After making his usual constructive contributions to the International Zoo at the U.N., he may well go to Cuba for a cozy weekend with Fidel Castro. And in October, he is expected to meet with Mao Tse-tung in North Korea.

Among these dates which the demonologists think Khrushchev has on his calendar, the one that will make the least immediate noise, the meeting with Mao will surely be the most significant if it takes place.

The point is that the relations between the Soviet Union and Communist China are now so tense that there is a clear possibility of an open break between the two giant powers of the Communist bloc. The obscure evidence but for this view, gathered from intelligence sources and from the Communist press, has already been summarized in a previous report in this space.

It is enough to say, here, that the evidence pointing to a Soviet-Chinese break is far stronger today than all the warning evidence that was available before the Soviet-Yugoslav break. Although Khrushchev will no doubt bellow for admission of Communist China to the United Nations, this will be a ritual gesture. The reality will, still be the possibility of a break.

In his quarrel with the Chinese, moreover, Khrushchev has no free options. The Kremlin cannot back down in this quarrel, without compromising Moscow's claim to be the New Rome of Communism. It is Mao Tse-tung who has to decide whether to back down or to accept the break. And as yet there is no evidence at all that Mao Tse-tung is getting ready to back down.

In these circumstances, the point of issue in the quarrel has great potential importance. Superficially, it is doctrinal. The Chinese have called the Soviets "blasphemous" for asserting that the holy Lenin believed in the possibility of peaceful coexistence with the capitalist powers. The Soviets have called the Chinese "blasphemous" for saying that the holy Lenin believed in the inevitability of war with the capitalist powers, as a necessary prelude to the world triumph of the Communist cause.

But this superficial, doctrinal dispute undoubtedly conceals a far more crucial dispute about a concrete issue. As one dispute must also reflect the other, the concrete issue is all but certain to be Chinese insistence upon a warlike adventure which the Soviets regard as altogether too risky. If Mao Tse-tung finally accepts a break on this issue, it must mean, in turn, that he is prepared to launch his desired adventure without assurance of Soviet support.

Such is the logic of the Sino-Soviet quarrel. Other points are

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

MR. K'S VISIT — The upcoming visit of Russian dictator Nikita Khrushchev as head of the Soviet Union's delegation to the United Nations has official Washington plenty worried.

"What's he up to?"

That's the question heard most often around the State Department.

The plain fact is that Khrushchev, a master fisherman in troubled waters, probably has many tactical objectives in mind with his UN sortie — all of them spelling trouble for the United States.

If the old, almost invariable pattern holds, one or more dazzling Soviet scientific achievements — perhaps putting a man into space — can be expected on the eve of K's arrival. The Russian rocket to the moon, the Soviet sun probe, and many another Russian space "first" has preceded one of Khrushchev's propaganda trips. Such feats add tremendous impact to the Russian dictator's words.

Khrushchev himself has dropped numerous unsuitable hints about a 60-ton Russian satellite which, he intimated, the Russians would launch soon.

TAXMAN — The day is coming when electronic machines will check everybody's tax returns, eliminating all possibility of errors or cheating. It will also speed up refunds to honest citizens, which at that time will be everyone.

An experimental model is being set up by the Internal Revenue System in Martinsburg, W. Va., and will be ready for operation in a few years. It will cost $3.5 million a year to rent, but should save many times that amount in additional collections.

Target date for extensive operations is 1969. That's almost ten years away. It seems too long to worry about, but look back — the last ten years went by pretty quickly, didn't they?

THE LADIES — For the first time, two women are campaigning against each other for a seat in the U.S. Senate. Miss Lucia M. Cormier, Democrat, is seeking to unseat Senator Margaret Chase Smith in Maine.

Mrs. Smith, a widow, is seeking her third term in the Senate. She got into politics to succeed her husband when he died. Miss Cormier is no stranger to politics. She has been an elected official in Maine state government since 1947, and once before sought unsuccessfully to win a seat in Congress.

One thing is certain: neither candidate will campaign on the argument that a woman's place is in the home.

Khrushchev's Visit Demonstrates Contrast Between 1959 And 1960

By Drew Pearson

NEW YORK — In considering what the United States faces at the U. N. General Assembly you have to look back at what was happening exactly one year ago this month.

At that time Nikita Khrushchev was taking a grand tour of the USA, seeing everything and anything, from Spyros Skouras' "Can-Can" movie in Hollywood to Roswell Garst's Iowa corn fields. He was given the red-carpet treatment in Washington, with high dignitaries turning out in white tie and tails. Finally he spent three days at Gettysburg and Camp David where he and President Eisenhower ended by genuinely liking each other. They gave their personal pledge to quit calling each other names, try to build up an atmosphere for peace.

For approximately six months thereafter, both men and both governments tried to carry out that pledge.

Khrushchev flew almost immediately to Peiping where, according to our best diplomatic reports, he tried hard to persuade the Red Chinese to cooperate with the USA regarding Formosa. He was turned down. But he tried.

Two months later when Eisenhower made his pilgrimage to 18 countries of Europe and the Middle East, Italian Communists were lined up on the streets of Rome cheering Ike. They had received the word from the Kremlin. Even Latin-American Communists on the President's subsequent tour had got the word and yelled "We like Ike."

Today, note the contrast. What a change! Today, exactly one year after Mr. K. arrived in Washington, he can no longer tour the USA. He is confined to Manhattan. Today American RB-47 fliers are imprisoned in a Moscow jail, and the U. S. Air Force privately proposes that we retaliate by shooting down a Russian plane. Or, an alternative, it wants the navy to seize a Russian trawler on the high seas.

Today both Russia and the United States have been seizing and deporting alleged spies at the drop of the hat, some of them merely outspoken students. And both countries have staged full-dress televised spectacles of defectors in order to whip up public opinion against the other.

The atmosphere is so tense that many diplomats fear an "accidental" war through a plane crash or a bomb explosion.

That is the contrast between September 1959 and September 1960.

And the big question is how did we get that way and how can we snap out of it.

U. S. Chain Reaction

We got that way, first, because various factions on both sides didn't want any understanding between the USA and the USSR; second, because of the U-2 spy plane incident.

Khrushchev had his problems with the Red Chinese and the Stalinists who emphatically disagreed with his policy of ending the cold war. Ike also had his problems with isolationists and preventive war advocates.

But none of them would have been strong enough to have disrupted the Camp David understanding had it not been for the U-2. Even after the U-2, the situation might have been saved had Ike not made the inexcusable mistake of taking responsibility for it. After that, and after he refused to call on Khrushchev at Prime Minister Macmillan's urging, the fat was in the fire. That's why, incidentally, Jack Kennedy was right when he said he would have expressed regret in order to save the summit conference.

The chain reaction that followed the U-2 incident is too recent to need review. The howling mobs in Japan which gave Ike the most serious loss-of-face of his career resulted directly from the U-2 incident and renewal of the cold war. So did the shrewd move to bring the leaders of the satellite world plus Asia and Africa to New York for a conference we didn't want and which the State Department bucked every inch of the way.

Ike Marks Time

Part of the China reaction is the present vacuum of American leadership. Dwight Eisenhower, who had a great and laudable ambition to bring peace to the world, is now marking time, discouraged, letting new leadership wait for the day when he gets out of the White House.

The western world is not in a happy state.

The fact is, however, that we don't have to mark time. Eisenhower still has some precious months ahead, and time is the most precious of all commodities when it comes to building peace. The forces for war work overtime. The forces for peace work only part time.

And the President, still with great prestige, still in a position to throw his powerful weight for peace, could be able to get the onetime "Camp David Spirit" back on the track.

He would have to swallow his pride to do so. He would have to sit down with Khrushchev. He would have to disregard the negative advice of various advisers.

But Ike can still go down in history as a man of peace, he can fulfill his fondest ambition, if he swallows his pride, ignores his advisers and brings back the once promising Spirit of Camp David. (Copyright 1960, By The Bell Syndicate)

The Profit Squeeze

By Leslie Gould

The "profit squeeze" which is currently worrying business management effects more than the stock market. It will reduce, and can even wipe out, the predicted $4.2 billion estimated Federal Government surplus.

Every dollar of profit that business fails to make costs the Federal Government 52 cents in income taxes.

The surplus of $4.2 billion is based on estimated income taxes from business of $23.5 billion and $43.7 billion from individuals.

Individual income tax payments may come up to estimates, but payments from corporations will fall short of estimates — maybe as much as $2.2 billion.

This drop is due largely to the "profit squeeze." Company after company is reporting sales at or above the previous year, but lower earnings.

If business fails to pick up this fall and winter — which is more than a possibility — profits will suffer additionally.

Add to this, the $1.7 billion increase in Federal spending over what the President earlier estimated, and the budget surplus nears the vanishing point.

In the first six months of this year, earnings of manufacturing companies ran about 6 per cent below the first half of 1959. There is some distortion in this, because 1959 profits were bolstered by the stepped up production to beat the steel strike.

The only industries to show higher profits were tobacco, drugs, petroleum, and machinery. The biggest drop was for the steel companies, this partly reflecting the greater activity in the first half of 1959 in anticipation of the strike, but nevertheless profits were substantially affected by the hand-to-mouth buying this year.

A broader study covering manufacturing as well as utilities, railroads, trade and service and amusement industries, profits were down 4 per cent from a year ago.

The First National City Bank, in its continuing study of corporate earnings, finds that in the first six months of this year the profit margin of manufacturing companies declined to 6.6 per cent of sales from 7.1 per cent in the same 1959 period.

Of 17 industry groups studied, 13 showed thinner profit margins.

A study of the country's 100 largest companies shows that their profit margins have been reduced a fifth — 20 per cent — in the last 10 years. In 1949, these 100 companies earned 7.9 cents on every sales dollar, but by 1959 this was reduced to 6.4 cents.

This is why the stock market has been running into heavier going this year. The U. S. Treasury will be pinched when the next income tax payment time rolls around.

Adjusting To Jet Plane Travel Takes Time

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Jetting from Paris to Chicago or from Copenhagen is a wonderful experience but the sudden gain or loss of 5 to 6 hours in a short time upsets some people. They are unusually fatigued, cannot sleep, or develop gastrointestinal disturbances. Disruption of the intrinsic diurnal rhythm is thought to be responsible.

Many organs of the body function on a 12-hour cycle. They behave one way during the day and another at night. The body temperature, for example, is low est in the morning, highest at 4 p. m., and drops to its lowest in the wee morning hours.

The kidneys also follow a diurnal rhythm. They excrete more during the day than at night. This rhythm has been noted also in the number of certain blood cells (eosinophils). Sleeping and posture may play a role but many authorities agree that a working cycle exists in some organs.

What happens to this rhythm when a traveler follows the sun around the globe? The body may not know the difference but the passenger adjusts to local time.

Conceivably, in the future, a person could have breakfast in Paris, New York City, and San Francisco on the same day. If so, what schedule would the kidneys follow, and will the body temperature be on French or California time?

Such sudden changes in climate, humidity, and diet require bodily adjustments. This takes time—usually two to three weeks.

Fatigue after a long jet trip may stem also from psychological stresses. This has nothing to do with the type of plane but everyone is a bit apprehensive at the takeoff and on landing particularly. Flying may be safer than traveling by car but we all recall the dramatic report of the latest crash. Furthermore, the sonic and subsonic vibrations are said to increase muscle tension.

TOMORROW: Visual acuity.

INDIGESTION

R. B. writes: What is the most frequent cause of indigestion in a woman of 66?

REPLY

Gall bladder disease if she has her own teeth or good dentures. But why guess? Be examined.

CANCER DRUG

R. M. writes: Is there a new vaccine that helps reduce the size of a cancer?

REPLY

Various chemicals and hormones decrease the size of a malignant tumor, but do not cure.

IMMATURE GIRL

J. B. writes: I am 15 years old and 5 feet 4 inches tall. I'm about 15 pounds overweight but know I can lose it. However, my problem is that my chest is underdeveloped and I can't even wear an A cup. I look awful in my clothes but my mother won't let me wear the padded bras. Is there any harm in doing so?

REPLY

No, and by next year your mother will give her permission unless she has a good reason for not doing so. Meanwhile, swimming may help your chest problem.

YOU BRING IT ON

T. C. writes: I had my gall bladder out but still belch. Can you help me?

REPLY

Stop swallowing air. Gall bladder disease is one of many causes of belching and it is obvious that this organ was not responsible for your burping. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on air swallowing.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Jerry West Decides To Sign With Los Angeles Quint

All-America Cage Ace To Join Schaus

WVU, Olympic Star Plays For Former Coach With Lakers

By JOHN KADY

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia University All-America Jerry West said Monday night he will sign a contract with the Los Angeles Lakers of the National Basketball Association.

West left Charleston by plane for Los Angeles to discuss terms of the contract. He said no salary figure had been mentioned as yet.

Had Other Offers

West had been considering an offer from the Cleveland Pipers of the National Industrial Basketball League. Several other NIBL and AAU teams also wanted to sign him, he said. He was the Lakers' first draft choice.

Fred Schaus, former head coach at West Virginia, is now coaching the Lakers and that apparently was the clincher that made up West's mind to sign with Los Angeles.

Another former West Virginia All-America, Rod Hundley, is with the Lakers and there's a possibility that West and Hundley will form the Lakers' back court this season.

"I am looking forward to playing with the pros," West said. "It's something I've always wanted to do."

Schaus has said he thinks the Lakers will be a good deal improved this season, his first as a head coach of a professional club.

And West has a lot of confidence in Schaus' ability to form a winner.

"I think Schaus is going to do very well out there," West said. "He's the type of person I think they need to coach the team and get it back on its feet."

Moved To Coast

The Lakers moved their franchise from Minneapolis to Los Angeles earlier this year in hopes that it would boost attendance. West climaxed a highly successful amateur career with an outstanding play in Rome as a member of the U. S. Olympic basketball squad that brought home a gold medal.

Countess Adios Establishes Six World's Records

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Countess Adios set six world's records and ran her season's earnings to nearly $160,000 as she took the spotlight in the opening day grand circuit harness racing program here.

Just as reinsman Del Miller had predicted two weeks ago, the Countess drastically shuffled the world's record tables when she romped to 1:59 1-5 and 2:00 victories in the breeders' filly stake for 3-year-old pacers.

Among the records set by her 1:59 1-5 and 2:00 clockings in the two heats, which total 3:59 1-5 she broke the two-heat record for 3-year-old pacers, regardless of sex, set in 1959 by Adios Butler at 4:00 1-5 in winning his two heats of the jug.

Palmer's Earnings This Year $75,700

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., tops runner-up Ken Venturi of Palo Alto, Calif., by more than $30,000 in the race for the money-winning championship, according to figures released Monday by the professional golfers' association.

Palmer has earned $75,700 this year while winning seven of the 23 PGA tournaments he has entered. Venturi has amassed a total of $44,800 in 24 outings, winning two tournaments.

Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., is third with $41,200, while only $5,000 separates the fourth and 10th place players in the money standings.

Dolph Schayes Signs

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—Dolph Schayes, who holds the professional basketball records for points scored, free throws, rebounds and games played, has signed for his 13th season with the Syracuse Nationals.

Schayes, whose point scoring record for the National Basketball Association club is 15,796, was the 11th Nat to sign.

Veteran Larry Costello remained unsigned.

Not Sure Of Winner

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's appointment with the speedboat driver who won the President's Cup over the weekend was called off Monday. Nobody was sure who won.

Chuck Thompson, a 48-year-old Detroit racer, was declared the winner Sunday in his hydroplane, Miss Detroit, but other drivers filed a protest after the regatta on the Potomac River.

Reynolds Stays With Redskins

Deal Is Closed For Quarterback

WASHINGTON (AP)—Quarterback M. C. Reynolds' status was clarified Monday. He stays with the Washington Redskins.

There was talk over the weekend, when the Redskins lost their sixth straight preseason game, that Reynolds was due to return to the St. Louis Cardinals. Washington obtained him from the Cardinals three weeks ago in a tentative exchange, reportedly for their first 1960 draft choice.

Late Monday the Redskins announced the deal had been closed, after owner George Preston Marshall talked by phone with coach Mike Nixon at Winston-Salem, N. C., and with managing director Walter Wolfner of the Cardinals.

A stable quarterback is the Redskins' biggest need as they wind up their training period at Winston-Salem. Ralph Guglielmi, the natural choice after veteran Edie LeBaron left Washington, was hurt in his first preseason game and hasn't played since. Reynolds was acquired when the team failed to move consistently under Eagle Day, Guglielmi's stand-in.

Keeping Reynolds means the Redskins will use him and possibly Day when they open the regular season against the Colts at Baltimore next Sunday. Guglielmi probably will be spared until Dallas plays here on Oct. 9. Washington has an open date the intervening Sunday.

Over-Eagerness At Bat Caused Birds To Flop

At Least That Is Stengel's Opinion

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel says it was Baltimore's over-eagerness at bat that brought the fledgling Orioles four straight defeats in the torrid weekend series with the New York Yankees.

"The trouble with them kids," the New York Yankee manager observed, "is that they're in a slump and they don't figure to snap out of it because they're over-eager. They won't wait for a walk. They swing at bad pitches. They just can't contain their eagerness."

Ted For Example

"Now take Ted Williams. He's got tremendous control over himself. He can start his swing, like this, (and Casey stood up to demonstrate) and then suddenly check himself right in the middle of it. But these kids, they can't stop the bat and let it go right through."

The name of Williams brought a gleam to Casey's eye. It brought back memories to the old man. "Here's something I've never mentioned before," he said. "But did you know that way back in 1937—I believe it was his first year in professional baseball—I recommended Williams to the Boston Braves. Ted was with the San Diego team in the Pacific Coast League."

"On my recommendation, the Braves offered five players for Williams. The San Diego club was receptive but they told us they were obligated to Eddie Collins, then general manager of the Red Sox. If the Sox didn't take him, we could have him."

Stengel recalled he finally got a chance to manage Williams in the 1950 all-star game.

When Ted Broke Elbow

"That's when he broke his left elbow crashing into the wall while making a catch," the Yankee manager said. "I knew he was hurt seriously the minute he came in and I told him he had enough and for him to get that arm doctor'd up. He took a couple of practice swings and he winced every time he moved that arm, but he asked to be allowed to hit once more."

"Well, all Mr. Williams did for me was to hit a line single—with a broken arm. That's the kind of guy Ted Williams is."

Tourney Halted Again By Rain, Resumes Today

All four teams will be making their first start in the tournament which got under way last Tuesday.

Law Is Happy He Finally Is 20-Game Victor

Pennant Is More Important, He Says

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Vernon Law, the hard luck Pittsburgh righthander who finally won 20 games in one season, said Monday his success was unimportant — "what really matters is that the Pirates win the pennant."

The 30-year-old Law, called "Deacon" by his National League buddies because he's an elder in the Mormon Church, said he was "very thrilled and happy" to wrap up his 20th triumph Sunday night against the Cincinnati Reds. He gave up nine hits in the 5-3 triumph on his fourth try for No. 20. He's lost nine.

"It doesn't make any difference whether the win was my 15th or the 20th. It was a triumph and that's all us Pirates are trying for now," said Law.

Pittsburgh has virtually clinched the pennant. It is 6 games ahead of second-place St. Louis and 6 1/2 in front of third-place Milwaukee.

Play Phils Today

Tuesday night in Connie Mack Stadium the Pirates play hapless Philadelphia in a doubleheader. They've beaten the Phils 13 out of 20 games.

Law, father of four boys ranging in age from 1 to 7, has never had a better season since he broke into organized baseball with Santa Rosa in 1948.

His best season, before this was last year when he finished with 18-9. In 1958 he won 14, lost 12. He was 10-10 in 1955, 10-8 two years later. Other seasons were losing ones.

Law had a chance to reach 20 games last season, but when the Pirates were knocked out of the pennant race he said he told manager Danny Mortenga to "try out some of the rookies in the closing games."

May Pitch Two Games

Law figures he'll pitch at least once more, possibly twice, before the World Series begins. He normally takes the mound every fourth day. The Pirates have 11 games left, including two doubleheaders.

Dick Groat To Play Before Season Ends

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Dr. Joseph Finegold, the Pittsburgh Pirates' team physician, said Monday injured shortstop Dick Groat "will be playing within the next week to 10 days."

Dr. Finegold removed the cast from Groat's broken wrist at Presbyterian Hospital and the wrist was x-rayed.

Groat planned a workout at Forbes Field Monday. He may possibly play in the last three or four games of the season.

The team captain was hit on the wrist by a pitch in a game against Milwaukee Sept. 6.

Rafer Johnson To Make Movie

20th Century-Fox Signs Olympic Ace

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—World and Olympic decathlon champion Rafer Johnson, back from Rome where he won the gold medal for the 10-event competition, Monday was signed to a long-term acting contract.

Johnson accepted terms from 20th Century-Fox Studios and was signed personally by studio head Robert Goldstein within 24 hours after his return from Rome.

The world's champion was immediately assigned to a top feature role in "Journey Into Danger," in which he will be featured with Raymond Massey playing the role of a soldier in a British garrison in Africa.

Johnson had played extra roles in movies while attending UCLA where he was student body president as well as a track and basketball star.

Although he had not announced his retirement from athletics after his victory at Rome, Johnson said he would never again compete in the grueling decathlon.

Northern High Cancels, Beall Is "Too Tough"

Beall High School is without a football game for Friday, October 14 due to Northern High School of Garrett county cancelling with the Mountaineers on that date.

Gerard "Jerry" Calhoun, Beall High grid mentor, was notified by Northern that it was cancelling because "Beall is too tough and the superintendent told us not to play at Frostburg October 14."

"I don't think we are that tough," Calhoun remarked. "Beall has played only one game to date, beating Barrackville, W. Va., 35-0."

Beall would like to find an opponent for October 14 to take Northern's place.

Northern has met Beall thrice in past years and won one game and lost two. In 1956 Northern beat Beall's Jayvees, 19-6, and lost to Beall's "B" team in 1955 by the score of 19-13.

After the Beall game last year Northern cancelled the two remaining games on its schedule because of injuries to members of its small squad.

The Huskies of Garrett county have split even this season, losing to Meyersdale, 19-0, and defeating Terra Alta, 34-14.

Carroll Bumgarner, former West Virginia Tech griddier, is the new coach at Northern this year.

Barton, 'Coney Must Replay Rubber Game

Barton's Braves and Lonaconing must replay the fifth and deciding game of their Twilight Baseball League series on Sunday at 2 p. m., it was decided by a committee of umpires who met here last night to act on a protest filed by Barton after Lonaconing had won the "rubber" game played Wednesday, Sept. 14 by the score of 5-4.

It was agreed that the umpires handling the game misinterpreted the ground rules in the game in which Barton filed a protest in the first inning.

9 States Join Conference On Unemployment

By J. RICHARD TOREN
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Democrats from nine states spent a full day here Monday looking at the problem of unemployment full in the face — something they charged that Republicans refuse to do. Then they agreed unanimously and not surprisingly that election of Sen. John F. Kennedy as President is the first and most important step toward solving them.

Occasion for the full-dress review of unemployment, area redevelopment, economic growth and related problems was the so-called Kennedy Conference on New Jobs and New Growth.

Represented by Democratic leaders, including two governors and several U. S. senators, were West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Illinois and Michigan—all states with pockets of chronic unemployment.

Conference Co.-Chairman William Bait, Pennsylvania's labor secretary, summed up the "unanimous" feelings of the participants with a closing observation that election of Kennedy and a Democratic Congress was a necessary first step toward eliminating chronic unemployment and putting new push behind the national economy.

More than a dozen speakers throughout the day also outdid each other in blasting the Eisenhower administration for: — President Eisenhower's two vetoes of Area Redevelopment bills which the speakers said amounted only to "a Point Four Program" for the United States. — Republican "indifference" to unemployment. "The Republicans are frozen in the ice of their own indifference," Sen. Joe Clark, D-Pa., quoted Franklin D. Roosevelt.

— An inadequate rate of growth in the national economy, averaging about 2 per cent a year under Eisenhower compared to better than 4 per cent under Harry Truman.

The speakers agreed likewise that unemployment is a growing problem — with about 6 per cent of the nation's working force unemployed — and that it will get much worse before it gets better. Only a program of "positive action, not (the Republicans') positive thinking," will solve it.

One of the panel speakers was Leon Keyserling, former chairman of Truman's council of economic advisers, who said the nation faces "tremendous unmet needs" domestically as well as the Communist challenge from abroad.

If present federal policies are continued for another five years, he predicted unemployment will grow from 7 per cent of the work force to 10, and idle productive capacity from the present 10 per cent to 15-20 per cent.

Rep. Harley Staggers, D-W. Va., who headed a panel on rural development, promised, without details, that Kennedy "will do something — he won't continue a policy of drift or try to sweep the things under the rug."

Leadoff speaker Sen. Jennings Randolph said the vetoed redevelopment bills would have provided much less money than did administration-sponsored bills for South American development.

"Surely, if we can afford a Point Four program for Asia and Africa, as well as South America, we can in all justice afford a similar program for our own people," Randolph said.

Keynote speaker Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., charged that the administration "does not deny the existence of the problem" of unemployment, "but wants us to become accustomed to high levels of unemployment and to view such unemployment as normal."

Pennsylvania Gov. David Lawrence centered his attack on the redevelopment vetoes, by which he said Eisenhower "turned his back on Pennsylvania, her population, her industries and her needs."

3 Area Men Join Army

Three area men have enlisted in the Regular Army here, according to M. Sgt. Virgil F. Smith, local recruiter. They have gone to Fort Knox, Ky., to begin basic training after which they will be granted a short leave before starting formal training.

Roger I. Bender, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Bender, Wiley Ford, W. Va., enlisted for assignment to Europe. He is a graduate of Ridgeley High School and has deferred selection of specific job training until after completing basic.

Charles W. Hardin, 17, son of Mrs. Elsie Mae Hardin, Cash Valley Road, enlisted for motor transport assignment. He is a graduate of Mt. Savage High School. Sgt. Smith said his decision to enlist was largely influenced by his brother Harry Hardin who enlisted here in May 1959, and is presently assigned to Fort Belvoir, Va., as a draftsman.

Roger Lee Staggs, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll H. Staggs, RFD 2, Frostburg, enlisted for assignment to communications center operations. He graduated from Beall High School in June.

Card Of Thanks

WE WISH to express our sincere appreciation to our relatives, friends and neighbors for the many kind expressions of sympathy for the beautiful flowers for the use of cars and for other kindnesses shown us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, James P. Wilson. To all who helped in any way we are deeply grateful.
MRS. JAMES WILSON AND FAMILY
Barron, Md.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my husband, Stanley P. Wilson, who passed away 7 years ago, Sept. 19, 1953. September brings sad memories of a loved one who has died. He won't ever be forgotten by the ones who loved him best. I often look at his picture and he seems to say, "I'm still here." Don't grieve, for I'm only sleeping and will see you again some day.
Myrtle

In loving memory of my beloved daughter, Regina Lechler, who died 1 year ago today, September 20, 1959. One year ago today, our darling passed away.
My deepest sympathy to all mothers who have lost a dear one.

MRS. MARY ROCK
12 Jones Street, Ridgeley.

In loving memory of my dear father, Henry S. Ward, who passed away two years ago today, Sept. 20, 1958. Today recalls sad memories of a loved one who has died.

And the ones who think of him today. Are the ones who loved him best.
Sincerely,
BERNICE ROSLEY.

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Freeda L. Shroff, who died this day 3 years ago today, Sept. 20, 1957.

In our hearts we'd like to stray Along the road of yesterday To hear you laugh and see you smile To talk with you a little while We cannot bring the old days back Your hand we cannot touch But God has given us sweet memories Of a dear one we loved so much. Dearly loved and sadly missed by Mother, father, and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. William Potts, Mrs. Rhea Smith, and Mrs. Hilda Deter.

Helicopter Forced Down On Mountain

Pilot Unhurt, Craft Is Undamaged

A small 47G2 Bell helicopter being flown from Clarksburg, W. Va., to Wilmington, Del., yesterday was forced to land on Big Savage Mountain about 2:25 p.m. because of a heavy fog bank in the area.

The pilot of the craft, S. A. Atkins, 200 West Ninth Street, Wilmington, told Maryland State Police he was piloting the copter without a flight plan and was following U.S. Route 40 when he ran into the heavy fog.

Police said they had received reports that the copter had struck some trees while landing, but the pilot reported the wind from his rotor blades had probably caused the trees to bend and sway as he landed. The copter did not strike anything, he said, and is not damaged.

Mr. Atkins is employed by Delco of Wilmington, a charter plane organization, and was flying the recently-purchased helicopter to Delaware.

The pilot told police he had phoned Cumberland that he was flying over and probably would land here before dark. He ran into the heavy fog as he passed over Big Savage Mountain, he said, and was forced to turn back and land in a small clearing alongside the highway on the east side of the mountain about one mile west of Frostburg.

Trooper B. J. Chabot investigated the forced landing and supplied the pilot with blankets and a flashlight when Mr. Atkins indicated he wished to remain overnight with the craft for fear curiosity seekers might damage it.

However, a member of the Civil Air Patrol offered to guard the plane and the pilot spent the night at a nearby motel. He plans to take off for Delaware early this morning, if the weather permits.

Solution Sought To Industrial Waste Problem

Representatives of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the City of Cumberland met yesterday in City Hall in connection with the disposition of industrial wastes from the B & O's oil separator plant here.

The conference followed a report last week by John J. Long, commissioner of streets and public property, that the effluent from the plant contained solids and saponified oil which were causing trouble at the sewage treatment plant.

Attending were Foster F. Schilt, division engineer, and J. A. Levens, mechanical engineer, for the B & O, and the Mayor and Council, along with City Attorney William R. Carscaden, City Engineer C. R. Nuzum and William F. Miller, plant foreman.

Mr. Schilt said the B & O was aware of the problem and that studies have been made to seek a solution. He said the B & O is as interested as the city in correcting the situation and that studies of the operation here may serve as a model for other installations.

During the conference, the B & O said it will continue its study of the problem and will, at the earliest possible time, take whatever steps are needed so that all oil will be removed from the B & O sewer lines, and especially the saponified emulsions.

The Mayor and Council will ask the State Department of Health and Water Pollution to cooperate with the railroad by allowing it sufficient time to correct the situation.

Captain Cresap Memorial Planned

A memorial wreath presented by Rep. John R. Foley will be placed on the grave of Captain Michael Cresap in the old Methodist Cemetery in Oldtown on September 30.

According to Ross F. Shaw, a member of the Cresap Society, who will place the wreath, September 30 marks the 172d anniversary of the death of Captain Cresap.

Captain Cresap was a grandson of Col. Thomas Cresap, founder of Oldtown in 1740. At one time, Captain Cresap owned a large tract of land in what is now Hampshire County, W. Va. He died September 30, 1788 at the age of 37. His father, the first Captain Michael Cresap, is buried in Trinity Church Yard in New York City.

Helicopter Forced Down Near Frostburg

A small 47G2 helicopter, flying from Clarksburg, W. Va., to Wilmington, Del., was forced to land in a small clearing on the east side of Big Savage Mountain about a mile west of Frostburg yesterday afternoon. The pilot, S. A. Atkins, shown here with the plane, said a heavy fog bank caused him to land. The craft was not damaged and he expects to resume his flight today.

County Man Is Believed Polio Victim

Memorial Hospital last night reported Brady D. Mongold, 38, of Williams Road, in "fair" condition as he awaited a definite diagnosis of his illness to determine if he is a polio patient.

The attending physician said last night that Mr. Mongold is a "probable polio case," but that laboratory tests now being made to complete the diagnosis will not be ready for six or eight weeks. Meanwhile, the patient, who was admitted to the hospital Friday, has paralysis of the lower part of his body and is believed to have spinal polio.

Mr. Mongold is employed at the Stegmaier Orchards on Christie Road.

Two other patients at Memorial Hospital are believed to have bulbar spinal polio. Miss Maxine McKenzie, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McKenzie, 133 Hill Street, Frostburg, is in "critical" condition and is completely paralyzed, while Glenn Knippenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Knippenberg of Irons Mountain, is said to be in "good" condition and apparently on the way to recovery.

Last week the hospital released two patients who were diagnosed as having polio. Charles Steven Snow, five-year-old son of State Trooper and Mrs. Charles Snow, Bedford Road, was released several days after he was admitted, while James Piper, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Piper of Oldtown, has been transferred to George Washington University Hospital in Washington to complete his recovery period.

The attending physician said the Piper youth was completely paralyzed and is still in an iron lung, although his progress has been reported as "satisfactory."

The Snow lad was admitted with paralysis of the left leg and a stiff neck but recovered within a few days. He was released with only a slight weakness of the abdominal muscles, his doctor said.

This, the physician pointed out, probably was because the youngest already has received three of his required four polio shots, thus showing the value of taking the preventative shots.

Other polio victims from Allegany County who have been hospitalized but released include Jacques Skidmore, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Skidmore, Slabtown, and Mrs. Charlotte Nau, 19, wife of Donald Nau, 511 Maryland Avenue. Mrs. Nau reportedly had received the Salk vaccine shots.

The Skidmore girl had paralysis of the throat, left arm and both legs when admitted. Her case definitely was diagnosed as bulbar spinal polio and the youngster has been transferred to the Children's Hospital in Baltimore for rehabilitation. The attending doctor said she has recovered the use of her arm but must learn to walk and talk again.

Civil Service Test Is Planned Tonight

An Allegany County Civil Service Commission examination for county road laborers in the Little Orleans section of the county will be given at 7:30 p. m. today at Piney Plains School.

Some 11 residents of Election District 1 have been notified that they are eligible for the position by reason of residence to take the test.

Jury Awards Westernport Woman $5,000

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury, which deliberated about 45 minutes, yesterday awarded $5,000 damages to Mrs. Jessie Seymour, 78-year-old Westernport woman, for injuries sustained in a fall in the parking lot of the A&P Market in Westernport.

Mrs. Seymour was injured in a fall on the lot on the night of January 3, 1957. She submitted bills which showed that her medical and hospital bills as a result of the fall totaled $2,409.99.

Defendants in yesterday's trial were the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, lessee of the market, and James A. Welsh, Westernport, who owns the building.

Ten witnesses were called to the stand in yesterday's day-long trial, which was presided over by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris. Mrs. Seymour, who has trouble walking without assistance, was the first of six witnesses for the plaintiff. Others called by Horace P. Whitworth Jr., attorney for the plaintiff, were Dr. Lewis Brings, John Seymour Jr., the plaintiff's son; Ellsworth Boal, who brought his ambulance to the parking lot for Mrs. Seymour; Harry Welsh, who operates a business across State Route 133 from the A&P market, and James A. Welsh, who owns the building in which the market is located.

Defense witnesses called by Attorneys Thomas N. Berry and Louis A. Fatkin included Kenneth Clary, manager of the store; Thomas D. McNemar and Charles Emory Hutcheson, clerks in the store, and Allen Troxell Poland, New Creek Drive, Keyser, who saw Mrs. Seymour fall.

Mr. Whitworth argued to the jury of seven men and four women that the A&P was negligent in not having the lot properly lighted and in not having a six-inch-high asphalt bumper painted a distinguishing color. Mrs. Seymour fell over the asphalt bumper as her groceries were being taken to her car by Mr. McNemar.

C. Arthur Lancaster of LaVale was foreman of the jury. A fifth woman juror was excused yesterday and the opposing attorneys agreed to try the case before an 11-member jury. The jury got the case at 3:52 p.m. following 30 minutes of closing argument, and was back in the court room at 4:40 p.m.

The Board of Supervisors of the Allegany County Soil Conservation District will meet at 1:30 p. m. Friday in the office of County Agent Joseph M. Steger at the Court House. The meeting originally was planned at night but it was decided that the afternoon hour would be more convenient.

Man Sentenced For Pointing Gun At Police

R. L. Judy Appeals Six-Month Term

A 30-year-old local man was sentenced to six months in the Maryland House of Correction yesterday in Trial Magistrate's Court for assault on a Cumberland police officer.

Raymond L. Judy of 7 West Third Street appealed the decision of Magistrate Paul W. Barnett and was lodged in Allegany County Jail under $500 bond pending the appeal.

Judy was charged with assault on Officer Merle Boggs who testified the man pointed a loaded shotgun at him when he answered a complaint call Saturday evening at the Judy house.

Officer Boggs told the court he and Officer William Norris answered a complaint at 7:45 p.m. Saturday that a man named Judy had chased his wife from their house with a shotgun.

The officer said he and his companion knocked on the front door of the Judy home and the door was opened by a young boy who told them the Judy's lived there. Mr. Judy was sitting in a darkened living room and invited them in, he said.

Points Shotgun

When they asked him if he had a fight with his wife, Judy answered "Yes," the officer said, but denied threatening her with a shotgun.

When Officer Boggs asked if he had a shotgun and where it was located, he said Judy told him it was none of his business.

Then, the officer told the court, he pointed his flashlight around the room and saw the weapon beside the couch on which Judy was sitting. The man grabbed the gun, jumped from the couch and pointed the shotgun at him. Officer Boggs stated. Boggs and Officer Norris jumped the man, took the weapon away from him and placed him under arrest.

Under cross examination from Attorney Harold Naughton, counsel for Judy, Officer Boggs admitted that the man had made no verbal threats, and that Judy could have shot him as he entered the house. He told the court that the weapon was a 16-gauge shotgun, bolt-action type with a pumpkin ball cartridge in the chamber and another in the magazine. The safety was off and the weapon was ready to be fired, he added.

Denies Intention To Harm

Officer Norris corroborated Officer Boggs' testimony, adding that neither of the policemen gave Judy a chance to fire the weapon after he picked it up.

Judy took the stand and told the court he had argued with his wife and slapped her. After she left the house, he said, he went upstairs to get his shotgun, which he claimed had been in hock and needed cleaning.

He stated he invited the officers in, but became angry when they questioned him about the gun and "shined that light in my eyes."

City Mails Over 10,000 Tax Statements

Real Estate Bills Represent $850,000

More than 10,000 tax statements were delivered last night to the Cumberland Post Office by George E. Davis, city collector.

Included were 10,398 real estate tax bills which are expected to bring in some $850,000 of taxes.

Also included were some 175 bills to corporations which brings corporation tax billings to the $220,681 mark.

The bills were mailed, according to Finance Commissioner Mrs. Lucile Roeder, after the Finance Department completed tabulating tax bills yesterday afternoon.

The bills are based on the 1960 levy of $1.54 on each $100 of assessable property.

This is two cents less than the tax levied last year and four cents less than the $1.58 levied in 1956.

The total bill will increase, however, for many taxpayers, since the assessable base has been boosted from $73,500,000 to $80,000,000 during the four-year period.
